

Latency decomposition at the smallest message size (8B): the bandwidth term vanishes, and the gap between the raw point-to-point floor and the measured time is rank synchronization overhead

